Cabbie beaten up, robbed and car set on fire

A CAB driver was left badly shaken after he was attacked and robbed by five people who then torched his vehicle.

The cabbie, who is in his 50s and lives in Harlow, had answered a call to pick up the group from outside the Heart and Club pub in Pypers Hatch in the early hours of Friday.

But once the group - four men and a woman - climbed inside the car they ordered the driver to hand over his takings. When he refused he was assaulted by one of the men.

The passenger, who was sitting in the front seat, held him in a neck-lock while the others grabbed his wallet, £190 in cash and a Samsung PDA computer which is worth £500.

They then forced the driver to get out of the car and drove away in it.

The burned-out shell of the blue Peugeot 307 estate was later found in Peldon Road where it had been set on fire.

Police this week released an e-fit picture of one of the group, left, and appealed for information about the incident.

"This was a vicious attack on a taxi driver who had been booked to take five people from the pub to the Pinnacles," said Detective Constable Mike Ferguson, who is leading the investigation.

"Instead, he was assaulted, robbed, injured

Trust director at centre of grope allegation probe

AMBULANCE service chiefs are investigating allegations of inappropriate behaviour against a trust director.

The East of England Ambulance Service has brought in an independent external HR expert to investigate reports in a national newspaper that Rob Ashford, a locality director for Essex, groped a young woman in a hotel bar.

Once the investigation is completed, it will be reported back to the trust's chairman.

A spokeswoman for the ambulance service said: "The allegations relate to a member of staff before they started their employment with EEASt, it did not take place on trust property and did not involve any EEASt staff at the time of the alleged incident."

"The trust was alerted to the allegation last year but the delay in completing the investigation is because it took time to get the required evidence."

Mr Ashford, who is not currently the subject of any disciplinary proceedings, joined EEASt in June last year and has 25 years of experience in the ambulance service.

and then had his car taken and destroyed by fire.

"All five people were involved in the robbery but the e-fit is of the man who was sitting in the front seat and carried out the assault."

"The driver suffered cuts and bruises but did not need hospital treatment, although he was badly shaken."

"We want to hear from anyone who can identify the man or from anyone with information about the robbery or when the five people abandoned the car and set it on fire."

Anyone who can identify the e-fit suspect should contact DC Ferguson on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Marquee blown into garden leaves woman a 'wreck'

A HARLOW woman was left a "quivering wreck" after a large marquee was blown into the garden of her home in Old Harlow.

Kay Watts, 67, of Chippingfield, was at home with her husband David on Sunday when the marquee set up in the grounds of Harlow Baptist Church, in London Road, was blown into their garden during high winds.

The marquee measured 45 foot by 25 foot and eight foot high.

"It took off and landed upside down in our garden," said Mrs Watts. "It was billowing and we thought it was going to take off again."

"I didn't know what to do. It was either going to come through the house or go over into Gilden Way."

Mrs Watts contacted both the fire brigade and police but neither would attend.

She said: "I was a quivering wreck, I still am. The poles were big and I was worried they'd come through the window or the marquee would go over the house onto Gilden Way and into the path of traffic."

Members of the church recovered the marquee later that day.

Parents' anguish at council home delay

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE parents of a baby with Down's Syndrome have hit out at Harlow Council for delays in rehousing them.

Baby Jasmin was born in February this year to Lorraine and Tony Wright.

Jasmin has been diagnosed with Down's Syndrome as well as a rare heart condition and was recently hospitalised for pneumonia. She now requires oxygen.

The couple - who also have children Billie, seven and Tyler, four - are desperate to move from their third floor flat in Great Plumtree to a ground floor property to enable them to better cope with Jasmin's difficulties.

Lorraine said: "It's disgusting. We can't get a pushchair to the door and we have to carry heavy oxygen tanks up three flights of stairs."

Lorraine said she had already injured herself trying to carry the oxygen cylinders up the stairs. "I just couldn't do it," she said. "We just want a property where we can get stuff in and out."

The family are looking for a three-bedroom property and because of Jasmin's diagnosis they are at the top of the housing priorities list.

DISGUSTED: Lorraine and Tony Wright with baby Jasmin

But despite attempts to secure a property the couple have been unsuccessful.

On one occasion, the couple say they were told by their housing officer that they would secure the next property they bid on. This was not the case and the property was given to a tenant, who the council says had a higher need.

The family have also been receiving advice from Harlow-based charity Upwards with Downs, which supports families with children with Down's Syndrome.

The family were moved from their home this week for the council to carry out mould treatment but said they were placed in a hotel that does not cater for children.

Councillor Rod Truan, portfolio holder for housing, said: "We sympathise with the family's situation and as they are in the highest priority band we are confident that they will soon find a home to meet their needs."

"Since the family's change of circumstances and housing reassessment in early July over 15 three-bedroom houses have become available."

"We cannot offer a guarantee that we would be able to meet every preference but it is important that the family make regular bids as this will help them secure a new home quickly."

"Officers are aware of the urgent need to move this family and will continue to provide advice and support to assist this family in securing an alternative suitable property."

READERS LETTERS

Whose bright idea was it to switch off our street lights?

SIR The report on the mugging of two young people returning from a birthday celebration (Star, July 31) was upsetting to read but unfortunately I fear a headline that will be repeated again and again.

I fear the streets I have known for many, many years could become no-go areas after midnight due to the lights out policy introduced by those bright sparks who decided to throw the switch at midnight.

Can someone remind me please why this decision was made? Was it, if I remember right, to help reduce the emissions to save our precious planet? I'm left wondering and in awe of such thoughtfulness!

I had a very uncomfortable walk home after a birthday celebration two weekends ago. Myself and an elderly family member who I had arranged to assist home left shortly after 12.15am.

Outside all seemed bright and well lit as the mini roundabout on Tillwicks Road was aglow with lights. We embarked on our short journey but on turning the corner to walk through Little Brays our hearts sank with despair. The route we needed to take was in total darkness, something I hadn't experienced since the days of the three-day week back in the 1970s.

We had no option but to continue creeping forward at a snail's pace through the pitch black veil of darkness. To say this was frightening is an understatement as we couldn't judge where the kerb was and the fear of tripping on broken paving was terrifying. The idea of walking in the road seemed safer but we were then in fear of dreaded potholes.

My companion was wracked with terror and almost at the point of breaking down when suddenly two knights in shining armour came to our rescue, assisting me in holding up this poor woman. We persevered and eventually got her home safe, albeit extremely stressed and anxious.

How do those people who dreamed up this policy justify such bright ideas? If Harlow is to be thrown into blackouts to ensure a box is ticked in high office, then surely the powers-that-be have a duty to set about scheduling repair work for the disgraceful pavements we have to endure.

If we are to feel safe in our streets and in our own homes during these dark times, then let's have extra police to patrol our streets.

I pay full council tax and yet there's been no mention of a reduction or rebate. Money is obviously being saved by not using street lights.

I for one will never venture out of an evening again unless I can be back before the clocks strike 12. I fear falling and smashing my face on the broken pavements, breaking an ankle by missing the kerb and, more so, of being mugged or attacked.

I pay my way so what is wrong in wanting to feel safe in the town I was born in? Put the blasted lights back on for goodness sake.

Barbara Byham
Little Brays, Harlow

Show a little consideration and keep the noise down

SIR Whilst I appreciate it is rare for us to have such lovely weather and everybody wants to make the most of it, not everyone is fortunate enough to be able to stay at home all day and night.

School holidays do not apply to all workers.

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

In this day and age a large proportion of workers have to work unsocial hours, night work and split shift patterns to make ends meet.

I know that it is impossible to have everybody's needs catered for but there is a line of common courtesy, consideration and human civility that is continuously being overstepped. It is not acceptable for parents to sit back and allow their children to make quite as much noise as they do; there is no need for them to shriek and scream (not in enjoyment but just for the sake of it).

They do not need to shout so loudly when the other children they are playing with are in the same garden. And it's not just during the day; sometimes they're still going late into the evening.

It may be lovely to be out in the cool air after a hot day but when you have to get up for work at 5am there is nothing worse than lying there having to listen to overexcited, overtired children. We do not enjoy going to work but going to work after a decent sleep does make it slightly more bearable.

I'm not saying that children (and adults) shouldn't be enjoying themselves. I'm just asking for a bit of good old fashioned respect and consideration in keeping the noise level down a bit.

A northern bypass is the answer to traffic problems

SIR Two weeks ago Cllr Sue Livings and I met Essex County Council's portfolio holder for highways and transporting, Rodney Bass, to discuss plans for a junction 7A of the M11.

We put forward the concerns of many Old Harlow residents about the preferred option which would connect the junction to Gilden Way. Cllr Bass said he understood those concerns and would listen to local views during the consultation process.

The meeting was a robust exchange of ideas and Cllr Bass recognised the pressure 10,000 new homes would present the town if planning permission is given to the Gilston Park Estate proposal. He told me he regularly discusses cross-county road issues with his Hertfordshire counterpart and would raise the Gilston Park Estate at a future meeting.

I also put forward my idea for a highways commission which would allow residents to put their views directly to him on junction 7A and suggest alternative proposals. He agreed, in principle, to attend meetings in Old Harlow to listen to residents' views and answer questions.

Nobody would disagree that we need better roads to ensure the right infrastructure is in place to deliver more housing and the Enterprise Zone, which will create jobs and boost the local economy. I believe that the only way we can solve Harlow's long-term road problems is by building a northern bypass that connects to the M11.

Cllr Joel Charles (Conservative)
Civic Centre, Harlow

Transit sites will not solve problem of encampments

SIR I fully agree with your correspondent who expressed his frustration at the lack of action by the police over illegal travellers encampments in Harlow (Letters, July 31).

By coincidence, I have recently been in communication with our MP whose reply gives a clear indication that in his view Essex police commissioner Nick Alston could take more robust action to deal with the problem.

Mr Alston is concerned that Harlow, and Essex in general, fails to provide transit sites for travellers and if these were made available the problem would perhaps go away. In my opinion this suggestion is simply madness; far from a deterrent, it is an open invitation to travellers to come to Harlow.

The real danger is that these transit sites will be fully occupied and when more travellers arrive by their own endeavours these sites will be enlarged and a permanent solution will arise. The local authority will then have a major problem moving these travellers on; the last thing we want in Harlow is another Dale Farm situation.

I can only suggest that all Harlow residents bombard Mr Alston with their concerns over these travellers - or rather trespassers - so that he can get on with the job for which he was elected.

It's not only travellers who are to blame for the mess

SIR For the past week all I have heard is people moaning about the mess left behind by travellers.

But has everyone failed to notice the pile of rubbish left behind by locals using the helpad and the surrounding field?

How do you expect travellers to clean up after themselves when those who live in the town don't even respect the green areas that so far we're lucky haven't been turned into flats?

J.M Gillespie
address supplied

Tory polices turned the UK into one giant call centre

SIR I enjoyed the ill-informed diatribe of Michael Hardware in last week's Star.

The reason the UK was so badly affected by the worldwide banking collapse is because Margaret Thatcher et al didn't believe in manufacturing. We used to have a thriving steel industry, ship building and mining but between 1979 and 1997 the Tories destroyed those industries and turned this country into little more than one giant call centre for the financial service industry.

It stands to reason that when a country's economy is almost totally reliant on the City of London it is going to suffer far worse after a banking collapse than countries like Germany which still actually produce tangible goods rather than nothing more than easily corruptible balance sheet.

There were two recessions during the Tory years of 1979 to 1997, one in 1981 and one in 1992. Both were caused by Tory fiscal mismanagement (poll tax, miscalculated ERM rate, 15 per cent interest rates). Let me guess, Gordon Brown was to blame for them too.

Robert Johnson
Harlow

SIR Michael Hardware has been brainwashed by Conservative central office, and by coalition MPs parroting the 'it was all Labour's fault' message. The crisis, as we all need to remember, was caused by the big banks gambling with toxic investments and losing heavily.

Despite keeping interest rates artificially low so these banks can recover at the expense of British savers, those at the top have continued their activities in fixing various markets to their own advantage.

Meanwhile, the Government has cut public spending until the pips do more than squeak and the indebtedness of the nation has continued to rise. Also, they have done nothing effective to reform the 'too big to fail' banks.

Did the previous government get everything right? Not by a long shot, but are our present lot doing better? Only in central office fairyland.

Hundreds respond to consultation on future of services

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A TOWN-WIDE consultation on the future of services funded by Harlow Council has received almost 1,000 responses.

The cash-strapped authority embarked on the exercise to give residents the chance to say which services they think it should provide and which it should cut.

Council leader Jon Clempner said: "We have received an excellent response to our consultation and there is still plenty of time for those who haven't yet to also have their say."

"Given the level of response so far I am confident that we will have a reliable picture of residents' priorities."

"This whole process is about being open and transparent with the community about the challenges the council faces and giving everyone the opportunity to have a say about the future of their services."

"This consultation is being run in-house which means that costs are being kept to a minimum."

Since 2011 the amount of money the council receives from the Government - which funds 46 per cent of services - has been cut by almost 50 per cent. This is expected to continue with an expected further reduction of 16 per cent in 2015/16 and 10 per cent in 2016/17.

The consultation includes funding choices for more than 20 different services the council provides or pays for directly, including The Playhouse, Pets' Corner and the town's paddling pools.

There are also questions on council tax levels and what residents consider to be priorities for making the town a better place to live.

Cllr Clempner added: "The results will be published in September 2014."

"When the results are published, it does not mean that final decisions on the future of any service have already been made. This is about the council finding out what the community thinks it should directly provide or fund."

Cllr Andrew Johnson, leader of the Conservative group, said: "It is an important consultation that will help inform the budget for next year. I am pleased that the Labour Party have U-turned over releasing the results but saddened they have not corrected the chance to submit multiple responses."

Surveys were sent to a random sample of 2,000 households but the consultation, which runs until the end of the month, is open to everyone.

Residents can take part online at www.harlow.gov.uk/ consultation or by picking up a printed copy from the Civic Centre or by phoning Contact Harlow on (01279) 446655.

Little Signers celebrate first birthday with a picnic

THE Little Signers Club celebrated its first year in Essex with a family picnic.

Essex teacher Maxine Holland decided to join the Little Signers Club after being made redundant last year and now teaches signing classes in Harlow, Epping and Ongar.

Ms Holland, 38, of Tanyard Place, who has qualifications in child psychology and British Sign Language, said: "I couldn't think of a more rewarding job than working with young families, offering them the opportunity to use baby signing which would enable their children to communicate what they may need or want, to their parents."

HARLOW has undergone many changes since the early days of the New Town back in the 1950s.

Just how much certain parts of the town have developed can be seen in these comparison photographs which have been brought in by reader Chris Davey.

The current landscape views were taken by graphic designer Chris using a drone - a flying camera.

Chris, 31, who works for the BBC and is originally from Harlow, has been using the drone to take aerial photos since March.

"I fly a quadcopter which weighs only a few kilograms and fits in a back pack," he said.

"It uses GPS satellite tracking to keep stable in the air, if I let go of the control it will just hover in place. I can monitor the onboard camera on my iPhone to get the shot I want, which gives a live stream as you're flying.

"You can travel up to around 1400ft away from you, including straight up, although by law you're not supposed to go over 400ft.

"I've found that being an early adopter of this kind of thing people are always really inquisitive about what you're doing and pretty wowed by how this thing can fly up and down at up to 40 mph."

Chris' collection of 'then and now' photos show The Stow, Terminus House, Bush Fair, Parndon Hall and West Gate.

He added: "I choose these shots as the Facebook group Photos of Harlow Old and New always posts great old shots of Harlow. Searching through these were some of the aerial shots I liked and felt possible to take from being able to get to an area to take off from and also enough landmarks to reference in the old photo.

"I was also requested to take one of Northbrooks by a few members of the group.

"I had to study Google maps for one of them as there was not much at all still there. I also had an iPad with the photo on and was comparing and looking.

"You get 25 minutes in the air which means you can take your time and take as many shots as you want.

"For the one looking over Northbrooks with the hospital at the top, I had to use the Hare pub, Parndon Hall and the former museum. There were no other buildings to line up with.

"I did have to use a bit of Photoshop to line the images up as best I could. The one of Parndon Hall, for instance, I had to pull out the top edges to make the image appear much flatter and from a higher perspective. I think the original must have been taken from a plane."

The photos of The Stow seem to show the least amount of change. The estate, though now much larger, was already extensive in the town's early days.

The Stow is one of the first areas to be built for new residents. When development was planned, building was to begin beside Old Harlow and move towards the town centre.

Illegal traveller situation 'intolerable' fumes MP

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE Minister of State for planning and housing Brandon Lewis was given a tour of the town's illegal traveller encampments before meeting with representatives to discuss the ongoing issue.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Mr Lewis met with Harlow Council and Essex Police representatives including police and crime commissioner Nick Alston on Monday.

Mr Halfon said: "There is just one site at the moment which is to be welcomed and I am glad police issued a Section 61 notice but the situation is shocking and intolerable."

"We went on a tour of the sites and talked about other legislation that is available and can be used. We made some progress."

"It is about zero tolerance to illegal encampments. There are 4,000 people on Harlow's waiting list, why are travellers allowed to have illegal encampments in Harlow?"

Mr Lewis, who sent a letter to Harlow Council in regards to the legislation available to deal with illegal encampments, said: "There are a whole range of powers we have devolved to help deal with these issues."

He added: "Local authorities and local police should be residents' first point of call. Residents can check all the relevant legislation about illegal encampments on the Government's website."

"People should be aware of the powers available and if need be, challenge their local councillors and ask if they are using everything they can to deal with the issue."

Mr Alston said the meeting was constructive and is making sure the police are doing all they can. He said: "It is a real concern to me that people are concerned. Police have taken a good deal of action including several section 61 notices and they will continue to do that where appropriate."

Leader of Harlow Council, councillor Jon Clempner, said: "We made him fully aware of residents' anger and frustration residents."

"It was a positive meeting and showed that Harlow Council is doing everything it can."

He added: "The council is calling on the Government and the Association of Police Officers to review the law and the associated guidance to deal with illegal encampments."

"The powers that are available to Harlow Council are being used and fully considered. Outside of the current powers, the council continues to look at every possible legal avenue to find a solution to this issue."

Leader of the Harlow Conservatives Andrew Johnson said: "The biggest thing I stressed to the minister is that the human rights of travellers should not overwrite the human rights of residents."

"I am glad to see that police are using their section 61 more and I encourage all to use all the powers available to them."

Shaunna's close shave to promote HIV charity

A YOUNG woman has shaved off her hair in order to promote the work of a HIV charity. Shaunna Lane, 22, of Nicholls Field, Harlow decided to raise money for the Terrence Higgins Trust.

The charity campaigns and promotes sexual health to minimise the spread of HIV and STIs and help those living with HIV to be healthy through treatment and support services.

Shaunna, who works as an administrator, has raised money for good causes with charity runs but was nervous about going bald.

"I was terrified that I would look like an egg," she said. "But shaving my hair will hopefully make a statement that this charity is worth donating to."

"I've done a couple of 5k runs for charity but have never shaved off my hair."

"I chose to do the head shave for the Terrence Higgins Trust to promote the fantastic work they do."

She added: "I feel amazing now I've done it. It's great to be able to raise so much money and the support has been amazing."

"My family have been really supportive although they do like rubbing my bald head for good luck."

Shaunna, who had her hair shaved at home by her partner Karl Bond, is hoping to raise £350 and is halfway to her target.

To sponsor Shaunna, visit www.justgiving.com/Shayna-Lane2.

Student selected for world summit

A YOUNG student from Harlow has been selected to attend the One Young World Summit, joining 1250 delegates from 196 countries expected to descend on Dublin in October 2014.

Nishall Garala, a Level 3 business studies student from Harlow College followed a rigorous selection process in which he had to demonstrate his leadership abilities and an evidenced commitment to affecting positive change in the Harlow community.

Nishall, who earlier this year was the vintspired regional award winner for his community work, has been a member of the Harlow Youth Council for five years.

He is vice chairman of his local residents association and volunteers on a regular basis on various projects and initiatives. He held the Jack Petchey Outstanding Achiever Award three times and was the Big Society's Young Volunteer of the Year in 2011.

Nishall must now raise £3,500 to enable him to attend.

Stride to address pensioners group

HARLOW Pensioners Action Group has issued an open invitation to its next meeting when the guest speaker will be Labour parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride.

Group secretary Gill Morris said: "You do not have to be a pensioner or even a Labour Party supporter to attend. Pensioners are not over-political."

The meeting will take place at Harlow Fire Station (accessed from Hodings Road opposite Sainbury's) on Wednesday, August 27, starting at 2pm.

Hospice lottery

Union rep in Green Party election bid

A UNION official has launched a crowdfunding campaign to represent the Green Party at next year's general election.

Murray Sackwild, general secretary of the Harlow and Epping Forest branch of the National Union of teachers, is hoping to raise £500 to give residents a "genuine choice".

He said: "The Green Party offers a genuine choice; fresh workable ideas based on the needs of real people and our environment.

"However because we don't pander to the wealthy and big business we need money to pay for our election deposit."

He added: "Unlike the Tories, Labour, Lib Dems or UKIP, the Green Party doesn't have extensive funds to advance for general election deposits for May 2015.

"I think it's important that the Green Party has a candidate in Harlow next May. Hopefully it will be me. But to do so we need to raise the £500 deposit."

Candidates standing in a general election must pay a £500 deposit to stand. This is refunded if the candidate secures at least five per cent of the vote.

Mr Sackwild, who has already secured pledges totalling £133, said he will return the donations should he be successful.

He added: "Twenty-seven per cent raised. Many thanks. We are going to do this."

Conservative MP Robert Halfon will be hoping to retain the seat while parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride is bidding to win the seat for the Labour Party.

The Liberal Democrats and the UK Independence Party have not yet announced their candidates.

GP nurses given help to support cancer patients

NURSES and nurse practitioners working at GP practices in Harlow have been given training in talking to patients diagnosed with cancer.

They joined nurses from surgeries in Epping Forest and Uttlesford at a 'talk cancer' workshop presented by national charity Cancer Research UK.

The group spent an afternoon gaining confidence in talking about the disease as well as learning more about cancer and the benefits of screening and early diagnosis.

As part of the workshop the nurses were given information packs containing leaflets which they can pass on to patients who may raise concerns in conversation.

Harlow GP Dr Rob Gerlis, chairman of the West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group which hosted the workshop, said: "This workshop means nurses in west Essex now have the tools they need to talk confidently to concerned patients, relatives or friends about cancer.

"Their certificates of attendance show that they can take the crucial message of getting any unusual changes checked by your doctor early, into the heart of their communities."

Ingrid Sollis, a practice nurse at the Hamilton Practice in Harlow, said: "It was a very informative workshop and I came away feeling more comfortable and confident in talking about cancer with patients at my surgery.

"It gave me lots of ideas about how to promote cancer awareness, where to direct patients for further information and how to talk more openly about cancer, cancer screening, treatments and survival rates."

A spokesman for Cancer Research UK said: "The nurses are also now better able to encourage people to make lifestyle changes, access local services and visit their GP promptly with any concerns."

The additional training of practice nurses and nurse practitioners is part of the clinical commissioning group's commitment to promote early diagnosis of cancer and swift referral for the appropriate treatment.

Four new recruits on the scent of a career in the police force

FOUR new recruits with the 'aah' factor are preparing for a career with Essex Police.

Seven-week-old puppies Tia, Terry, Turbo and Tyson - made their debut at the dog unit in Sandon when they were paired with volunteers who will look after them until they begin training to become police dogs.

The German Shepherd pups were born on June 3 after Essex Police's dog Xena was bred with a male dog from a private breeder. The playful pups, who are Xena's second litter, have been given names beginning with the letter 'T' after PC Terry Collinson - one of the police dog instructors who has been taking care of them.

PUPPY LOVE: The four new recruits with their walkers

Each of the puppies has been paired with a puppy walker who will give up their time to help prepare the dogs for training by getting them used to as many environments as possible.

Although they don't train the pups, they introduce them to as many different people and places as possible from noisy train stations to crowded shopping centres so they become familiar with everything they might encounter in their working career.

When the puppies are around 14 months old they will be teamed with a police handler for a demanding 13-week training course during which they will learn to work as a team to track, search and detain potential suspects.

Festival-goers warned to expect traffic delays

PEOPLE heading for the V Festival in Chelmsford this weekend are being warned to allow for traffic delays.

The three-day music festival, which is being staged at Hylands Park, is expected to attract more than 70,000 people.

The HA is working in partnership with event organisers and local authorities to help festival-goers get to the campsite and to keep motorway traffic flowing. Anyone travelling through the area is advised to allow extra time for their journey or to plan an alternative route or time.

Nigel Allsopp, Highways Agency events planning manager for the East of England, said: "Although there won't be any road closures, we expect the A12 near Chelmsford, the M11 from junctions 7 (Harlow) to 9 (Saffron Walden) and M25 junctions 29 to 28 to be much busier than normal.

"The campsite opens at midday on Friday (August 15) and closes at midday on Monday, August 18 so we expect the run-up to and from these times to be particularly busy. We also expect traffic to be busier in the area throughout the weekend.

"We strongly advise festival goers and road users in the area to plan ahead and ensure that vehicles have sufficient fuel, and that they have plenty of drinks, such as water, available in the vehicle in case of any delays."

Traffic is also expected to be busy in the same areas on Monday morning as people head home from the festival.

Employment help for young people

A NEW campaign is being launched in Harlow to help young people into employment.

The REED NCFE partnership, which provides training and job search support to young people, works alongside Harlow College to connect learners with employers.

The 3x campaign aims to help young people at Harlow College find employment, by providing them with specialist training and jobs advice, as well as developing employability skills.

The campaign aims to make young people three times more likely to get a job, three times more likely to be promoted and more than three times more likely to be retained.

Recent statistics published by the Office for National Statistics show that youth unemployment is at eleven per cent among 18-24 year-olds in the south east.

More than 200,000 people are currently unemployed in the South East, with more than a quarter of these - 56,000 - aged between 18-24 years.

There is still some way to go in helping young people bridge the gap between full time education and employment.

REED NCFE believe the solution is to combine mindset skills and good qualifications to help reduce youth unemployment.

Alasdair Downes of The REED NCFE

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Partnership said that it is hard to ignore the persistently high unemployment rates among under 25s.

He said: "The 3x campaign is targeted at supporting young people from education into employment, by equipping them with the right mind-set to succeed."

"We do this by offering support on CV writing, job search and interview techniques, as well as connecting them with local employers."

"The latest unemployment figures for the South East underline how important it is that young people have the right skills to enter the job market."

"We've got the job of developing these skills and connecting learners with the 75 per cent of jobs that are never advertised."

Louise Turner, vice principal at Harlow College, said: "Many young people find securing their first job a real challenge."

"As well as enabling students to achieve outstanding results we recognise the need to help our students develop the attitude and personal skills that employers value."

"Many of our students who have worked with Reed NCFE have benefited from their support in further developing their personal and job search skills and being able to apply for those hidden jobs."

City worker launches nail service

A TANNING and beauty salon which opens until late to cater for working clients has launched a new service.

Sarah Aherne, of Pennymead, Harlow, launched Shwe Tan's gelish nail service in Station Road, Old Harlow, in July and offer the service every day until 9.30pm on weeknights in order to cater for clients that cannot take time out of their day.

Shwe Tan was set up in 2010 to offer conventional sunbeds and spray tanning.

Ms Aherne, who still works in London as well as running her nail business, said: "I have worked in the City for more than 10 years and always found it difficult to fit in treatments around my work schedule and getting home from work late in the evening.

"When I opened my salon I decided to keep it open late every weeknight, to suit people who can't necessarily have treatments carried out during the day as the majority of people are at work."

"I've been really happy with opening later as the salon is always very busy every evening."

As well as the new gelish nails service, Shwe Tan has expanded to offer threading, tinting, eyelash extensions and waxing for men and women. To find out more visit www.ShweTan.co.uk.

Delegates buy into doing business with airport companies

TIPS on how to do business with companies at Stansted Airport were on offer at a seminar attended by more than 120 delegates.

The event was sponsored by the airport and organised by BE Group and Marketing Kinetic as a forerunner for Stansted's annual Meet the Buyers event in October.

Delegates were given an outline on how the airport procurement process works, advice on how to generate and develop business ideas and how to access support and networking opportunities.

Speaking at the event, Stansted's corporate social responsibility manager Marcella M'Rabety said: "Stansted is committed to ensuring local businesses gain a better understanding of the opportunities that might be available to them."

"The collective purchasing power of the 190 on-airport companies is enormous, and by linking with local companies we can maximise the efficiency of our supply chains and ensure we deliver maximum economic benefit for our region."

"Momentum is building towards this year's Meet the Buyers event. Bookings have been fantastic and we have over 100 companies confirmed to participate. There are still spaces available, so there's plenty of opportunity to get involved."

Meet the Buyers 2014 will be held at the Inflight Jet Centre at the airport on October 2.

Paramedic calls time on his 25 years' service

GARY SANDERSON:
'I have met people at their ultimate highs and lows, both happy and sad'

A PARAMEDIC who has been the public face of the region's ambulance service is moving on after more than 25 years.

Gary Sanderson, an officer with the East of England Ambulance Service, took responsibility for providing public updates on incidents and accidents in the Star area.

Among the incidents he handled was the Barn Mead house fire in Harlow which killed six members of the Shakoor family in 2012. He also covered the Hatfield rail crash in 2000 and Potters Bar rail crash two years later.

But Mr Sanderson, 49, who lives in Stevenage, has also been there for some of life's happier moments, delivering more than a dozen babies!

"You don't know what you are dealing with until you get there," he said. "You can get a call saying someone has a cut on their wrist and you get there and they have lost a limb."

"The highs have got to be helping people and to actually save someone's life. I can't think of anything more rewarding than saying 'I went to work today and saved somebody's life'."

"For anybody who wants to become a paramedic it is a reward-

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ing job. I have met people at their ultimate highs and lows, both happy and sad."

He added: "I have had an amazing career. It has been an absolute pleasure working alongside dedicated operational, control and support and voluntary staff."

"I will obviously miss the job very much, but I am looking forward to new challenges later in the year. I am proud that I have been able to help many people out in their time of need."

Originally a plaster technician at Lister Hospital where he started in 1983, Mr Sanderson joined the ambulance service in 1988. After moving to Stevenage ambulance station in 1990, he started work on non-emergency ambulances before progressing to frontline ambulances and fast response cars.

He started working as a communications officer in 2000.

During his career he received six chief ambulance officer commendations and one chief ambulance officer award for outstanding contribution to the service. He also received the Queen's Ambulance Service Long Service and Good Conduct Medal.

Death of former journalist with a passion for language and music

A FORMER journalist with a passion for words and music has died at the age of 85 following complications from pneumonia.

John Horton, who lived in Harlow and Epping, also spent time in Uganda and Ethiopia working in media and communications.

JOHN HORTON

Mr Horton's eldest son Matthew, 59, said his father had passed on his love of language to his family.

"We moved to Harlow in 1957 and my father got a job on the Harlow Gazette," he said. "He was there for a number of years as a reporter."

Mr Horton also worked for Herts & Essex Newspapers, publishers of the Star.

Mr Horton was a member of the choir at St Mary-at-Latton Church. He was also the church's organist and founder of the Harlow Organ Club.

"He never really stopped," said Matthew. "After he retired he ended up working for a Hertfordshire paper as a journalist. He was in his early 70s by then."

"He always had a love for the written word and newspapers in particular. We owe a great deal to my father and his love of music and journalism."

Mr Horton leaves behind a wife, Mary, 86, three children - Matthew, Jane and Stephen - and five grandchildren.

His funeral takes place at St Mary-at-Latton Church tomorrow (Friday) at midday.

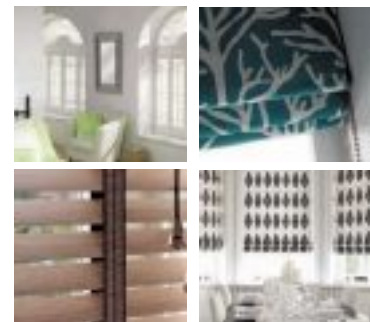

Mr Horton's suffered from Multiple Sclerosis during the last three years of his life. His family have asked that any donations in his memory be given to the MS Society at www.justgiving.com/Matthew-Horton2.

Mission accomplished for comet space probe

A SPACE probe launched from Earth more than 10 years ago has finally caught up with the comet it was chasing after a journey of about four billion miles.

It is the first time in history a man-made spacecraft has orbited a comet and scientists are now hoping it will provide them with information in more detail than ever before.

In a few weeks time the probe, which has been named Rosetta, will release a small robot lander onto the surface of the comet - a 4km-wide lump of ice and rock dust which has been travelling through space at a speed of 43,000 miles per hour.

It is believed comets are what remains from the earliest days of the Solar System and it is hoped the Rosetta mission will help reveal how the system evolved and whether there is any link to the start of life on Earth.

Throughout history comets have been lighting up the night sky, but their speed and distance have made them difficult to investigate. Professor Monica Grady, of the Open University, said: "The biggest question we are trying to get an answer to is where did life on Earth come from?"

"How did life get going? Was it the building blocks of life that were brought to us from comets or did it get going on Earth? Did the water on Earth come from comets?"

Rosetta started its epic journey into the depths of space on March 2, 2004 when it was launched from Europe's Spaceport in South America.

Since then it has passed Earth three times and Mars once. It has even flown past two asteroids.

VIEW FROM WESTMINSTER

By Harlow MP
Robert Halfon

LIKE most of you I am furious about the illegal traveller sites that have been causing serious problems in Harlow over the past few months.

These sites are bringing misery to local residents, particularly due to the mess that has been created. Sadly, too many residents have also been victims of anti-social behaviour.

I am doing everything possible to stop these illegal encampments. I have raised this in Parliament and held meetings with senior police officers. This week I invited Brandon Lewis, a senior minister from the Department for Communities and Local Government, to our town. He was able to set out to the police and Harlow Council exactly what laws are available.

He visited the sites and other areas that have been affected by illegal traveller encampments such as Third Avenue and Latton Common, as well as the current camp at the former Passmores School site.

I have also met with one of the senior representatives of the traveller community to make clear local concerns. My point is simple: there are thousands of people on the waiting list for housing but they are not allowed to break the law. If there is one rule for people in Harlow, the same rule should be applied to everyone. No-one should be allowed to trespass on land, whether traveller or not.

Whilst there are problems with the courts in terms of delays in hearings and abuses of the legal process, there are clear powers for the police and the authorities to deal with this problem. The law known as Section 61 says that illegal encampments can be moved on quickly when there is either anti-social behaviour or six or more vehicles. In almost every illegal encampment there has been more than six vehicles.

There is a host of other legislation as well, including laws the police can use for trespass on private or public land.

Whilst I welcome the work of individual Harlow officers, it is clear that Essex Police has been using the legislation inconsistently. It seems that only after enormous public pressure have Section 61s been used. Their reasoning is so-called human rights legislation and guidance from senior police headquarters.

My response is simple - what about the human rights of residents to live in peace? Moreover, these so called guidelines we are exactly that, they are not the Ten Commandments.

I have nothing against travellers. I agree that they have the same right to homes as everyone else and it is important that we have a dialogue with the people who have come to Harlow. However, their right to homes is no different to anyone else's.

We have to have a zero tolerance approach to those who break the law. If this had happened at the start of last October, perhaps we might not be facing our current problems.

I believe it is the duty of Harlow Council to take every preventative action possible and to ensure that those who have broken the law are pursued in the courts to ensure that they pay back some of the thousands of pounds we are all paying in our local council tax to clean up this mess.

What would help is for local residents to make their feelings clear to Harlow Council and the Essex Police and Crime Commissioner so that they are in no doubt about feelings of Harlow residents. Enough is enough.

Family fun day draws crowds to town centre

HUNDREDS of visitors enjoyed a family fun day at the Water Gardens in Harlow on Saturday.

Shoppers visiting the town centre were able to enjoy activities such as face painting, Punch and Judy shows and bouncy castles.

Stilt walkers mingled with the crowds and there was balloon modelling for younger visitors, while staff from Pets' Corner took along a number of birds and animals for visitors to handle.

Water Gardens manager Beryl Murphy said: "It was a superb day. We were very lucky with the weather and, as always, it is very rewarding to see so many shoppers enjoying their time here."

"Thanks to Pets Corner and Harlow Falconry, people were also able to experience and hold some exceptional wildlife."

Case study: Rebecca

"I chose to study law at Anglia Ruskin University because I got a really positive vibe when I first came to visit. The buildings were modern and there is lots of green space.

The relationship I have with the staff here is really important. Law is a difficult subject to study, and the support of the lecturers and staff has really helped me to get through the modules and the coursework.

We had our assessments in the 'law court' inside the university. It was great to be able to put what we'd learned into practice and build our confidence in a courtroom environment. It's been very helpful.

I love the Chelmsford campus - the community, both in the university and in the surrounding area, is very friendly. Even in my final year, I was still meeting new people. There are lots of societies, for people with all sorts of interests. I was a member of the Gospel choir, which I loved.

I'm hoping to become a practicing solicitor eventually. Anglia Ruskin University have really helped us to search for and apply for internships, which has been really supportive."

Speaking about the two-day festival, which is in its fourth year, organiser Jamie Pring told the Star: "The Saturday bill starts with some fantastic original bands and we urge you not to miss what will turn out to be some brilliant performances by some great bands, then the turn of Rock School with we're sure a few surprises once again ready to entertain you."

A shrub for all seasons

AS summer marches on, many perennials are now fading, while annuals continue to colour borders and patios. But savvy gardeners should also be thinking creatively with shrubs which will extend the season and provide colour and structure to the border.

So says Andy McIndoe, managing director of Hillier Nurseries and all-round garden expert, who has just written The Creative Shrub Garden, a colourful tome offering his groundbreaking approach on how to make the most of shrubs.

Of course, plant combinations are vital if you want to show any shrub off to its best, says McIndoe.

"The dark wine-red leaves of the Japanese maple, Acer palmatum 'Bloodgood', are a stunning partner for the rich golden foliage of Spiraea japonica 'Goldflame'. The tips of the shoots and new leaves of the spiraea are orange red, which picks up on the colour of the acer.

"For evergreen interest, I might use Abelia 'Kaleidoscope' instead of the spiraea. This is a compact shrub of similar proportions and colouring with the benefit of small pink autumn flowers with colourful calyxes.

"For a third shrub, I would choose the round, compact Berberis thunbergii 'Admiration', which has rounded wine red leaves that colour brilliantly in autumn. Additional interest could be added with caramel coloured heucheras, which have the benefit of evergreen foliage, and a few glowing orange tulips such as the lily-flowering 'Ballerina'. This would make a warm, glowing planting combination suitable for a small garden or a group of pots on the patio."

In summer, Lavandula angustifolia 'Hidcote' is perhaps the finest and most reliable variety of English lavender, whose dark blue fragrant flowers and aromatic grey-green foliage are perfect with any silver foliage subjects such as Santolina chamaecyparissus and Helichrysum italicum.

However, in a warm, sunny situation on dry soil it would be better partnered with the perennial wallflower Erysimum 'Bowles Mauve' which flowers from early spring through autumn. The lavender and Erysimum work well with small shrub Cistus 'Sunset' with its sage green leaves and cerise pink flowers. Purple heucheras would add contrasting dark foliage and a few Allium christophii a different flower form and another dimension to the planting. These are all good choices for a sunny spot in a small garden.

If you're looking for dynamic foliage in a shrub, Physocarpus opulifolius 'Diable d'Or' has arching branches and deep copper leaves, orange at the tips of the shoots. It makes a wonderful planting partner for orange shrub roses such as the lovely fruit-scented 'Lady Emma Hamilton'.

It is also striking with any golden foliage shrub, especially Cotinus coggygria 'Golden Spirit', an unusual smoke bush with rounded golden leaves and copper plumes which pick up the colour of the physocarpus.

"In a larger space, I would also add a spring flowering, sapphire blue Ceanothus 'Concha', perhaps the best of the evergreen Californian lilacs," McIndoe suggests.

Plant Hibiscus syriacus 'Hamabo', among the best hardy hibiscus for late summer flowers in shades of soft pink with wine-eyes, next to the deep purple foliage of Sambucus nigra f. porphyrophylla 'Eva' (Black Lace).

"For colour early in the season, add

Spiraea japonica 'Anthony Waterer', with its deep crimson blooms, and perhaps the mauve pink trumpets and purple green leaves of Weigela florida 'Foliis Purpureis'. In a larger garden, the evergreen Abelia 'Edward Goucher' would add all-year interest and extend the autumn flowering season," he adds.

Hydrangeas may have been out of fashion in the last few years, but they are a must for late summer colour.

Try Hydrangea macrophylla 'Mariesii Perfecta' (Blue Wave), a classic lacecap hydrangea with a flowering season that extends through summer and autumn. It is happy in semi-shade and will produce blue flowers on neutral to acid soil, or mauve-pink on alkaline.

"Partner it with a soft green and white variegated shrub such as Euonymus fortunei 'Emerald gaiety', which will cover the ground in low mounds. A large-leaved variegated hedera growing against a wall or fence would make the perfect backdrop," says McIndoe.

● The Creative Shrub Garden by Andy McIndoe is published by Timber, priced £20.

THE EXPENDABLES 3 certificate U 2h06m

Following a spectacular opening stunt aboard a moving train, Arnold Schwarzenegger turns to Sylvester Stallone and says: "I'm getting out of this business and so should you."

Sage advice from the former governor of California. But it falls on deaf ears because The Expendables is a cash cow for Stallone, who directed and co-wrote the opening salvo in 2010 and has been reliving his muscle-bound glory days ever since.

Australian director Patrick Hughes takes charge of this outlandish mission festooned with bone-crunching hand-to-hand combat, pithy one-liners and deafening explosions.

And The Expendables 3 certainly opens with a bang. Several, in fact.

Barney Ross (Stallone) and his crew of battle-hardened mercenaries - Lee Christmas (Jason Statham, Gunner Jensen (Dolph Lundgren), Toll Road (Randy Couture) and Hale Caesar (Terry Crews) - orchestrate a prison breakout. Their target is original Expendables member Doctor Death (Wesley Snipes).

The team heads to Mogadishu at the behest of chief Max Drummer (Harrison Ford). There, a spectacular skirmish at the dockyards brings Ross face-to-face with a ghost from the past - Expendables co-founder Conrad Stonebanks who Ross was ordered to kill but who is alive and existing well on the ill-gotten gains of the arms trade.

Faced with an adversary who possesses unlimited supplies of state-of-the-art weaponry, Barney retires the old team and enlists the help of Trench (Schwarzenegger) and retired medic Bonaparte (Kelsey Grammer) to bring down Stonebanks. They assemble a fearless younger crew comprising bareknuckle brawler Smilee (Kellan Lutz), nightclub bouncer Luna (Ronda Rousey), hacker Thorn (Glen Powell), weaponry specialist Mars (Victor Ortiz) and infuriatingly talkative former Spanish armed forces operative Galgo (Antonio Banderas).

The Expendables 3 is an entertaining and ridiculously far-fetched tour of duty that sensibly welcomes fresh faces to the fold and provides Banderas, Ford, Gibson and Snipes with sizeable roles to turn back the clocks.

The clash between old school brute force and modern day tech savvy provides the scriptwriters with a rich vein of humour while Stallone looks good for his age and sparks brotherly banter with Statham, whose wavering accent is a prime target for put-downs.

They look like proud fathers passing the mantle to the next generation of action heroes who could potentially help the Expendables sequels reach double digits while Stallone does his bit for the cause with a zimmer frame rocket launcher.

INTO THE STORM certificate 12A 1h29m

An unprecedented barrage of tornadoes devastates an American town in this spectacular disaster movie.

A perfect storm of extreme weather events ravages the town of Silverton as twister after twister rips buildings asunder and terrifies the population.

Stormtrackers predict that the worst of these deadly cyclones is yet to come and the majority of townsfolk seek shelter wherever they can, battenning down the hatches.

But for professional stormchasers and amateur thrillseekers alike, this unprecedented assault presents the opportunity of a lifetime.

Director Steven Quale takes us right into the heart of Mother Nature's fury as he depicts the terrifying onslaught through the eyes of the terrified townsfolk and reckless daredevils.

WHAT IF certificate 15 1h42m

Wallace (Daniel Radcliffe) drops out of medical school, in part to escape his failed relationship with another student.

He becomes disillusioned with love and convinced that he will never meet a significant other, unlike his kooky roommate Allan (Adam Driver) who intends to marry his perfect partner, Nicole (Mackenzie Davis).

So Wallace vows to steer clear of romance and seeks refuge in the company of his sister Ellie (Jemima Rooper) and her son Felix (Lucius Hoyos). At his lowest ebb, Wallace meets talented animator Chantry (Zoe Kazan), who lives with her longtime boyfriend Ben (Rafe Spall).

Chantry and Wallace become good friends but both recognise a spark of attraction that could be fanned into a full-blown affair.

As they wrestle with their feelings for one another and contemplate whether the person you should spend the rest of your life with is your best friend, Chantry's sister Dalia (Megan Park) makes a play for Wallace.

This unexpected attention piques Chantry's jealousy and forces true feelings into the open.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WITHOUT wanting to put too much of a dampener on the summer, it's worth remembering that August is the most frequent month for break-ins. So if you're off on your holidays make sure your home is as safe as it can be.

Now we are in the height of the holiday season, the police in conjunction with Neighbourhood Watch have issued guidelines to give your home a 'lived in' look when it's unoccupied so that any passing would-be thieves won't be tempted.

Use timer switches for lamps so that they turn on as it gets dark in the evenings. You could also use a timer switch for a radio.

Ask your neighbour to put your rubbish or recycling bins back if they're being collected while you're away. If they're left out after collection day it could indicate to a passing thief that your house is unoccupied. Be a good neighbour and do the same for them.

If you aren't leaving your car at home, ask a neighbour/friend to park their car on your drive and don't forget to cancel deliveries of milk, newspapers etc.

Consider moving enticing items such as DVD players and televisions so that they are out of sight.

If you are away for a longer period of time, ask your neighbour to cut your grass. This helps to show that the house may be occupied.

You could also ask someone you trust to open and draw the curtains, take in any free newspapers and moving your mail away from the letterbox.

Store valuables in your loft when you go away. Then go off and enjoy your summer break!

Dempsey's Comment

"Clutter cost"

In the current market, if you are to maximise your price, it is more important than ever to ensure that your property is a highly saleable proposition, rather than one that makes another house look good by comparison.

Of course, there are several basics that should be in place. The price needs to be as attractive as the décor, and you should aim to be flexible on things like fixtures, viewing times and completion dates. You also need to be with a pro-active estate agency - not just one who simply lists your house and then waits for the market to deliver a buyer to your door.

But there are other things that you can do, which have a significant bearing on whether a buyer will purchase your property instead of the one down the street.

A recent survey supports our own view that clutter in an otherwise delightful property can thwart an early sale. Over 76% of estate agents questioned said that de-cluttering your home is among the top three most important things a seller can do, and is an inexpensive way of dramatically increasing the perception of space. 68% of Agent's said that a thorough interior clean was important, followed by 48% who said that the garden should be tidied.

If you have lived in your property for a while, you can become oblivious to what is clutter and what is an asset to the presentation of the property. So it's a good idea to ask a friend to help you sort the wheat from the chaff, and we are of course happy to offer straight-talking good advice if required.

But don't just bung your superfluous possessions in the garage. Why not be rigorous and take a few cartloads to one of our local charity shops?

It can be a liberating exercise as well as a social benefit!

Have fun.

Hey good looking

MATT JOY

PORSCHE'S baby 911 has always been close to its big brother, but in the right spec the Cayman S could make you ditch the dream forever.

Porsche introduced an all-new Cayman in 2013 and it was essentially just that; - a new structure and chassis, new engines, a new exterior design and a far superior cabin.

The standard Cayman proved to be a terrific thing in its own right, but as with many high performance cars, getting the right specification is everything.

This, then, is arguably the ultimate specification Cayman; in S form with the more powerful 3.4-litre 321bhp engine, the purist's choice of six-speed manual gearbox, the pricey but superb carbon ceramic brakes and the uncompromising but superbly supportive bucket seats.

Looks and image

Where the previous Cayman was a relatively discreet-looking machine, the latest version has a bit more personality.

There are shades of the 918 Spyder

Fact File

Porsche Cayman S

£48,783

ENGINE: 3.4-litre petrol unit producing 321bhp
TRANSMISSION: 6-speed manual driving rear wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 175mph, 0-62 in 5s
ECONOMY: 32.1mpg (combined)
CO<sup>2</sup> RATING: 206g/km in the front end and rather than hiding in the shadow of the 911, it's a car you could choose for its looks alone.

Better still, the Cayman has the image to stand up in its own right.

It's no longer the option if you can't afford a 911, in fact you may find the odd 911 owner questioning their judgement...

Space and practicality

There's more space in the cabin for humans, and it's easier to get comfortable as a result.

You'll find a little bit more storage in the cabin, too; certainly a little less than a similarly-sized hatchback but you won't struggle to stash keys, phones and the like.

Luggage space requires a little more effort.

There's 415 litres on offer, which sounds good, but as this is a mid-engined car, the space is divided between the front and the rear – so take squashy bags rather than big suitcases.

Behind the wheel

Everything feels just right from the hot seat; the driving position and the weight of the controls are sublime.

Fire up the flat six and there is a complex, delicious growl from the exhaust – in fact, the sports exhaust option means more noise, it's an essential choice.

The Cayman S is so well honed it can deal with the boring day-to-day driving without effort, but when the road opens up, you realise just how good it is.

The steering is sharp but weighty and not hyperactive, while the handling balance is simply stunning.

You can lean hard on it with complete confidence, and those carbon brakes are hugely reassuring. Most importantly, the 3.4-litre engine is slick, sonorous and deliciously fast.

Value for money

A standard Cayman S checks in at a not-unreasonable £48,783, and for that money you'll have yourself an outstanding sports car.

Of course, a few choice options can bump the price a little, and the standard equipment levels are fairly modest.

On the other hand, the Cayman is one of the least-depreciating cars you can buy, so should you be daft enough to sell it, you'll get more of your money back than with almost all rivals.

Who would buy one?

If you want your sports car to be a genuine ground-up road machine rather than a track refugee or a hopped-up version of a standard car, this is the one for you.

As long as you only need two seats, you could use it every day and not find it a chore, whereas if you're lucky enough for it to be your weekend plaything, then your weekends are going to be amazing.

NU BLU

Mark is ready to go in his new Electrica Blue Fiat 500. This integrated sports styling kit totally appeals to the inner petrol-head - Fiat's only cost-coated side skirts, rear spoiler, and chrome exhaust, not to mention optional 16" alloys, inside, sports seats with adjustable stitching and dark-stained rear windows drive the point home. And the all-new 7" TFT crystal digital display gives him his tech fix. Two A/C engines means low CO2 emissions and no road tax. Fiat from Harlow Group, Harlow, Greater London.

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).
Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Andrew Franczak looks back at a super 2014 Commonwealth Games

Passionate Selby: It was a hell of an experience

HARLOW-born Daryl Selby relished the whole Commonwealth Games experience, as he picked up a bronze medal.

The former Bishop's Stortford Squash and Racketball Club member took bronze in the men's doubles with James Willstrop on the final day at Glasgow 2014 after a 2-0 victory over Scotland pair Alan Clyne and Harry Leitch.

He also just missed out on honours in the mixed doubles with Sarah Kippax.

The 31-year-old, whose father Paul coaches juniors at the Silver Leys club, was one of the characters of the courts at the Scotstoun Sports Campus in Glasgow, with his trademark sweatband around his head and frequent passionate outbursts.

"They say it's the friendly Games and it's been just that," he said.

"We've been to watch the other sports and the athletics last night was amazing for me.

"Watching Jo Pavey [who won bronze in the 5,000m on Saturday night] as a 40-year-old mother-of-two was inspirational.

"To do what she did is unbelievable and she gave us a lot of inspiration.

"It's been a pleasure – the Scottish people have been so friendly everywhere we've been. It's just been one hell of an experience.

"The crowds have been fantastic and that's testament to everyone involved that the crowds have been so good."

There was a long rally to start the bronze medal match and that was the story of the opening game, which Selby and Willstrop eventually won 11-9.

The English pair went 2-0 ahead. Selby then hit the tin and the Scots scored their first points to big cheers.

Selby looked determined and focused with a job at hand to get a medal.

After some incredibly long rallies featuring at times slow pace and patient build-up, the English

ON THEIR WAY TO BRONZE: Daryl Selby, second right, and James Willstrop, centre, in action in their men's doubles bronze medal match at Scotstoun Sports Campus in Glasgow pair led 8-7.

Selby then hit Clyne full on in the face with his racket on a follow through, taking his eye protector off.

The Scot came off for treatment, but he was okay and returned to big ovation as the match resumed after a brief pause.

The English pair were trying to freeze Leitch out of the game, and the tactic started to reap rewards as they took the opening game in a marathon 37 minutes.

The second game again began with a lengthy rally which seemed to go on forever.

"We were just trying to hold up Kylie Minogue in all honesty!"

Selby said later.

It finally came to an end as Leitch blasted the ball at Willstrop's legs for a let.

Selby was then baffled by a let call, and expressed his usual disbelief to referee. He took it out on the ball with a neat winner.

Then came the first really dazzling rally to spark the crowd from their slumber, with chants of Scotland around the crowd.

You always sensed the English pair had the upper hand and despite a plucky comeback from the Scots, Selby and Willstrop were slowly creeping towards a medal.

Willstrop was sweating so much he needed to change his shirt as it was making the court dangerous and Clyne slipped.

The court was wiped and all the players took a breather before the grand finale as Selby hit the winner to take the game 11-7 and the pair won the match 2-0 in 38 minutes.

They embraced, and Selby punched the air in delight.

Afterwards Selby joked that playing doubles was like shopping with his wife.

"In doubles you're having to concentrate so much harder – it's like shopping with the missus.

"At the end of it, it's that long drawn out thing you gradually grind to a halt where you just need to sit down, anything to sit down after walking around for four hours and not having bought anything!"

That quote neatly summed up Selby's jovial and extrovert manner at these Commonwealth Games, and an athlete who truly did wear his heart on his sleeve.

Pic: PA (S)

Why I proclaim the Games a huge success

SO after 12 days of fast and furious action (apart from the lawn bowls that is) the Commonwealth Games said goodbye to Glasgow and hello to the sunnier climes of the Gold Coast in Australia.

Mind you, when the Games started what seems like an age ago we were in the middle of a heat wave, and most of the African athletes who had come decked in the warmest jumpers they could find were stripping off to their T-shirts and shorts.

For all the big names missing through injury this was still a high class sporting spectacle, providing a wealth of human interest stories.

I got to see as many of the 17 sports as possible in the well spread out venues, but my favourite moment came not on the field of play but in the stands.

The famous Hampden Park roar was multiplied to new ear piercing decibels on the big screens as they belted out famous Scottish songs during the athletics.

And what a sight it was to witness a group of athletes from Lesotho in Africa in the seats below the media stand get up on their feet and sing and dance along to The Proclaimers' I'm Gonna Be (500 Miles) as the lyrics appeared on the big screen.

It was unforgettable and I wish I'd been able to do a selfie of it, but use of cameras was strictly forbidden in our seats.

I covered a wide range of athletes from across the Herts and Essex titles including Harlow-born Laura Trott, who finally came good in the cycling, the wonderful John McEnroe-like character Daryl Selby, formerly of Bishop's Stortford Squash and Racket Club, Herts Phoenix athletes Laura Wake and Jodie Williams, as well as Harlow's Jo Harten in the netball.

While Wake was never expected to feature but enjoyed the experience, all the others came home with medals apart from poor Harten, who experienced a torrid Games.

On the closing day of action there was another heart breaking loss for the England girls in the bronze medal against Jamaica, and I felt quite relieved that I didn't have to speak to Harten afterwards as I made a mad dash to see the bronze medal match squash match on the other side of Glasgow.

They often say it's not the winning but the taking part that counts in sport, but you try telling that to Harten.

And so to the closing ceremony of musical fun and games featuring Lulu, the now not so famous Deacon Blue and a blistering seven song sing-along set from Kylie Minogue. The night was rounded off by an emotional Auld Lang Syne and usual fireworks display.

Glasgow has delivered a great Games, and a hugely successful one for England, whose chef de mission Jan Paterson said on beating Australia in the medal table [174 to 137]: "It wasn't in our minds from the start." I suspect she had her fingers crossed behind her back!

Storey: Officials were right to disqualify Osagie

STAR sports reporter Andrew Franczak spoke to veteran commentator Stuart Storey (72) at the Commonwealth Games.

He felt Harlow's Adrew Osagie was correctly disqualified in Glasgow after an incident with Wales' Joe Thomas.

Storey said: "I called it right at the time – I thought he should have been disqualified, there's no question about it, and the officials saw that straight away."

Storey, right, was by no means bowled over by several aspects of the Glasgow Games, ranging from the standard of competition and the inclusion of para events in the athletics programme.

"Overall the Games are weak

[in terms of competitors]. A lot of the fields are not as good as they might be, with Usain Bolt just running the relay and Christine Ohurougu also just in the relay.

"There are an awful lot of the para sport events as well. I'm not sure I'm all for that. I think that the para sports have got their own championships and people that want to support that will do that.

"I think that what they do [the para athletes] is fantastic, but it makes the programmes very long for the able-bodied championships. I think there is probably more para sport in these championships than I've ever seen before – it's probably a little bit too much."

However, despite all this, Storey was glad to be able to cover the Commonwealth Games.

"It's nice to be here," he said. "The Games are fantastic for Glasgow. There are just one or two little question marks in various areas, but they've taken a lot from London.

"They've done pretty well across the board, I musn't complain too much. It's a great atmosphere in the stadium. It's packed all day which reminds you of London 2012. It's absolutely superb.

"The atmosphere can't be bettered, really – this is Scotland!"

Murtagh Pride of place | Hawks get off to great start

HARLOW Running Club member Steve Murtagh completed the London Pride 10K in Victoria Park, finishing in ninth place out of 788 finishers.

He was second veteran 50 in a fantastic 35 minutes and 17 seconds, just 10 seconds outside the HRC Vet 50 record.

At the multi-terrain Rayleigh 5 Mile Robin Lozeau was 65th place out of 317 finishers in 44.26.

Meanwhile at the Gunpowder Park run 5K, Andy Kinney was 74th out of 118 finishers in 27.57.

He was followed home by Pushpa Mistry, 91st in 30.26.

At the Southampton Park

run 5K, Richard Solomons came home 63rd out of 447 finishers and was second Vet 65 in a superb 21.02.

Previously, Andy Kinney completed the inaugural Railway Ultra finishing in 68th place out of 76 finishers in 6 hours, 19 minutes and 23 seconds.

The event was over a 27-mile three lap course beside the River Severn along a disused railway line between Ironbridge and Bridgnorth in Shropshire.

Meanwhile at the Basingstoke Park run 5K, Richard Solomons was 44th out of 362 finishers and second Vet 60 in 21.15.

Season ends on high for brilliant Harlow athletes

THE season ended for Harlow's young athletes with the final youth league match at Watford.

Once again the turnout was small, but on this occasion the same was true for most teams.

The strongest performances came in the middle-distance events in all three age groups: Zoe Rutter and Grace Malcolm picked up fourth place finishes in the U-13 girls' 1,500m A and B races respectively.

At the same distance in the U-15 event Katie Champion was second, and Eilidh Malcolm first in the B race, reducing her personal best by nearly five seconds.

Owen Harknett and Christian Barker took third and first in the boys' A and B races.

In the U-17s, Donald Campbell turned out for a second consecutive day, having run for the senior men's team, and ran strongly to take second place also in the 1,500m.

Finally, in the U-15 boys' 800m, Lewis Harknett and Sam Law took first and fourth in the two races.

Meanwhile, over at Barnet, three of Harlow's young athletes were selected to take part in the U-15 and U-20 Southern Counties matches.

Teale Cunningham was selected for Essex in the U-15 high jump and was fourth, helping the county to first place in the 16-team competition.

In the U-20 competition, representing Essex, Will Snook qualified for the final of the 400m but withdrew.

On Saturday he had run two hard races for the senior men's team and had left that fixture feeling tightness in his hamstring.

Representing Hertfordshire, 16-year-old Mohamed Tamedou received a surprise call-up to the U-20 team following the withdrawal of the selected athlete on the morning of the match.

He was 13th overall.

Essex were third and Hertfordshire eighth in the match.

HAC team manager Steve Lott said: "Reflecting on the junior season as a whole we have to be satisfied despite the frustrations along the way.

"There has been the phenomenal success of Naomi Harryman, resulting in international recognition, Will Marklew's rise to prominence in multi-event competitions and five county vests at U-15, 17 and 20 levels.

"We have been punching above our weight and the success is testimony to the athletes' own hard work and the support they've received from family, friends and coaches.

"I am sure that we have the talent within the club to ensure that success isn't just a satisfying blip but becomes normal for us."

Fourteen counties competed in total.

Gastroenteritis cannot deter superman Paxman

FOURTEEN athletes plus supporters travelled to Eton to compete in the play-offs for the Soleus Southern Men's League title for 2014.

A number of athletes were unavailable on the day due to work and family commitments, including Jared Bethell, Daniel Jephcott, Peter Day, Liam Mistry, Dylan Ellis, Ashley Rich, Joe Bailey and Adam Defoe.

The match was very hotly contested with the top four teams vying for the medal places throughout the day.

Wins were hard to come by for the Harlow athletes.

Will Snook won the A string 400m in a time of 49.89 despite feeling unwell.

Glen Paxman also crossed the line first in the B 400m in 52.15.

Ral Onyema won the B string high jump clearing 1.75m.

Dave Bauer won the A string discus with a throw of 39.80m and Adam Holtby won the B string hammer with a PB of 26.39m.

Carl Paxman, above, competed despite recovering from gastroenteritis.

Carl still managed an impressive set of results. He won the long jump B (5.94m) and was third in the triple jump (11.11m).

He was fourth in both the 800m (2:48.0) and 1,500m B (6:56.86), third in the 5,000m B (22:19.0) and the 110m hurdles (22.82s).

Team captain Dave Bauer said: "This showed real commitment to the team on Carl's part as he could have easily dropped out. He still looked unwell on the day but threw himself into his events even managing to win the B string long jump, so who knows what he could have achieved fully fit?"

Adam Holtby threw a further PB in the B string discus achieving 26.46m.

Seasons bests were achieved by Craig Snook in the pole vault (3rd B string 2.60m) and javelin (2nd B string 39.60m).

Glen Paxman vaulted to 3.00m in the A string pole vault to equal his PB.

With the match down to the last event, the 4x400m relay, Harlow were lying in third place overall and a podium finish beckoned.

Missing from the team was Glen Paxman, the usual final leg runner as he had just completed the 3,000m steeplechase in place of his brother.

The team, made up of Harry Woodall, Bryn Thorpe, Shemar Boldiszar (all U-17s) and Will Snook (U-20s) ran a sterling race but were beaten into fourth place, meaning that Harlow finished the match in fourth place overall by half a point.

Bauer added: "I actually feel sick to my stomach as the athletes have put so much into this and I really wanted to see them get a podium finish, although we have still done well to make the final.

"I just feel disappointed especially for the younger team members. There is always next year when some of the athletes will be that bit older and we will have some new athletes moving up into the U-17 category making them eligible for the senior team."

Windsor, Slough, Eton and Houndslow won by one and a half points.

Town keep up bid for promotion

HARLOW Town made the best of their good fortune as they won by four wickets at Oakfield Parkonians in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League.

The pitch for Saturday's game looked full of demons and when Town's captain Ashley Alderson won the toss, he invited the hosts to bat.

Irrespective of the pitch's poor condition, Town put in one of their best bowling and fielding performances of the season.

Two direct hit run outs and six catches were safely taken as the Town tore through the hosts' batting line-up.

Parkonians' overseas player Jibran Azam is a class above most others in this division and he scored 35.

Daniel Farmer (2-23), Mohamed Hassan Ali (2-25), Ramya Upadhyay (2-4) and Shaun Alderson (2-10) dismissed the hosts inside 25 overs for just 72, which was a decent effort from the visitors' attack.

Pat Yates (8) and Shiraz Ali (17) settled the nerves before there was a flurry of wickets.

The pitch was summed up when Joe Holland (8) stretched forward to play a good length ball which reared up and smacked him noisily on the helmet.

The home side did all they could to run through the Town line-up with Paran Kalley (4-30) dismissing Ali, Holland, Upadhyay and Price, before a stoic 26 not out from Neil Gladwin settled the Town nerves.

Skipper Ashley Alderson went for five before Town (75-6) eased home by four wickets and with 35 overs to spare.

The game as a contest was heavily influenced by the pitch and the umpires reported the surface to the league after the match.

Town remain in the top two with four games to go and their promotion hopes firmly within their own hands.

Harlow Town's second XI defeated their Oakfield Parkonians counterparts by seven wickets.

Parkonians batted first and were bowled out for 143 after they had been 63-5. Charlie Coleman and Conor Fussell all picked up two wickets each before Tim Poulter mopped up the tail with two wickets.

In reply, Town made 144-3 as they reached the target in the 28th over.

Jason Gladwin made 55 and Bilal Ali chipped in with 39 not out and Harlow's second XI sit top of the league by one point from Old Southendians & Southchurch but with a game in hand.

Meanwhile, Harlow Town's third XI (109) slipped to a 75-run defeat against South Woodford's fourth XI (184).

Paul Morrell took 4-49 for Town and Daniel Dewey conceded only 10 runs from nine overs.

Although Brian Lall scored 33, Town batted poorly but are still in the top two and are now 11 points behind Loughton with a game in hand.

Harlow Town's fourth XI (155-4) drew with Epping's third XI, who declared on 255-6.

George Richardson (3-42) and Sreerag Radhakrishnan (3-49) were Town's best bowlers.

Aaron Simpson (43) and Radhakrishnan (36) played the main innings' for Town.

Harlow remain in danger of drop

Hainault & Clayhall 198-9 bt Harlow (151)
by 47 runs (Shepherd Neame Essex League, division one)

A BATTING capitulation was to blame as Rehman Ahmed's men suffered a loss at the hands of Hainault & Clayhall.

Ahmed won the toss and chose to bowl first; a spirited display from the Harlow attack meant that Hainault were bowled out for 198.

Hainault had been reeling on 111-7, as Nicky Baxter, Luke Monger, Conor Ramsay, Luke Heskett and Tom Ryder shared the spoils.

Etinder Bopara, brother of Essex and England batsman Ravi, hit 27, while ex-England 'A' wicket-keeper Robert Rollins went for a duck.

However, number eight Yasin Patel finished unbeaten on 41 and had support from Khalil Khan (21), to lead the visitors to a more defendable total.

Baxter finished with 3-41 from his ten overs, while Ryder and Monger took two apiece. The innings included a remarkable 43 extras.

Harlow made a bright start with the bat, Imran Qadir getting in to his stride from ball one, and Harlow were cruising with a run rate of well over 10 from the first five overs.

But wickets fell regularly and when Qadir was caught on 47, Harlow looked in trouble.

Ahmed Khawaja had support from Luke Heskett (14) and Baxter (10) but little else.

Khawaja was caught on the boundary for 38, as Harlow crumbled to 151 all out from 31 overs.

Rollins was imperious behind the stumps, claiming three stumpings and two catches.

The loss means Harlow slip down a place to sixth in the table, with only 16 points separating them from the drop zone.

Second team captain Dan Stone says he has real hope of his team avoiding relegation, after they beat Hainault & Clayhall by 16 runs.

Harlow put on 206. Alan Jones scored a patient 59 and Andre Riddell also registered his maiden half century of the season.

In reply, Hainault finished 190 all out (Lloyd Sykes 6-80).

Harlow thirds beat Hornchurch by seven wickets, while the fourth XI increased their advantage at the top of division one with a 49-run victory at Orsett with Sarwat Ali taking 6-52.

"We put relentless pressure on Orsett, and to bowl them out for 108 off nearly 51 overs showed how difficult we made it for them," said skipper Rob Coldwell.

Humble Osagie sorry after Euro heartache

Harlow Athletic Club star misses out in Zurich woe

ANDREW Osagie's miserable 2014 continued as he missed out on a place in the semi-finals of the 800m when he represented Great Britain at the European Athletics Championships in Zurich on Tuesday.

The 26-year-old from Harlow, who was disqualified in his heat at the Commonwealth Games in Scotland a fortnight ago, missed out on progressing by a fraction of a second.

He clocked 1 minute 48.31, and was clearly injured as he made his way across after the race to be interviewed by the BBC.

Completing a miserable Europeans in this event, his compatriot Michael Rimmer also missed out after running a slower time than Osagie (1:48.51).

Harlow Athletic Club member Osagie has been suffering a sciatic nerve injury, and previously a hamstring injury, later tweeted: "I hate people who seem to make excuses and I have been trying so hard this season not to be that guy but there's only so much I can do..."

"Thank you so much for the support it really does mean so much, sorry this year so far hasn't been vintage... #BringBack the #OsagieBoom."

Osagie had performed brilliantly but just lost that spark in the final straight, usually the strongest feature of his racing.

However, his injuries are clearly a factor and he will look to bounce back next year.

The semi-finals of the 800m were due to take place in Switzerland last night (Wednesday) with the final on Friday.

Osagie had been disqualified at Glasgow after a tangle with Wales' Joe Thomas.

Hawks boss targets duo as side seal second victory for fantastic start

Harlow Tn ..... 3
Romford ..... 1
(Ryman League, division one north)

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman admitted he was delighted with all his new signings after his team made it two wins from two in Ryman division one north - but wants a centre-half and a central midfielder to complete his squad.

The latest recruit to join Harlow Town is former Arsenal and Stoke City right-back Ben Glasgow.

The 20-year-old was released by the Potters when Tony Pulis was manager, and Chapman said he rejected a switch to Conference South neighbours Bishop's Cleeve to join Harlow.

"Things did not work out for him at Stoke. He played on loan at Stortford. He has seen what our club is all about and he's another good addition to the squad."

"He chose us and I think it shows where the club has come."

"He is very quick. He is technically very, very good. He has everything you need to be a good plete my squad," added Chapman. A second-half blitz from Harlow secured a second successive victory in their first home fixture on Tuesday.

Alex Read stuck twice to hit the ground running as he looks to improve on last season when he broke the Hawks' scoring record in a single campaign.

Harlow took the lead on 11 minutes when Shane Stamp struck with a looping header which beat the keeper.

But the visitors were level just five minutes later.

Read made it 2-1 to the hosts on 68 minutes when he rifled the ball home.

The forward added a third on 77 minutes when he fired in for a brilliant goal which flew into a top corner to complete a comfortable victory for the Hawks. "We could not ask for more: two wins and six goals, but we know we are not playing at the level we know we can play at," added Chapman.

He played in Tuesday's win over Romford, his home league debut, and Saturday's win at Redbridge.

But the signings have not stopped there. "I want to bring in two more. I want a centre-half and a central midfielder to com-
